作文Plastic Bag Ban for Environmental Protection The problem of environmental protection has captured a great deal of attention from the general public and plays a significant role in our social life.Towards this issue,new findings have been found and through the help of which,we gain a new understanding of the harm of plastic.According to the report,plastic takes years to degrade and thus releases toxic substances into the environment.Secondly,it puts severe threat on the health of wildlife.Thirdly,the production of plastic bags consumes much fossil fuel.

Viewing the disturbing facts from the article,I am positive that there are certain ways that we could cut down on plastic use and raise people’s awareness on environmental protection.For one thing,customers in supermarkets or shops should be allowed and encouraged to bring their own shopping bags.Plastic bags are no longer offered in shops or offered at a very high price.Also,some activities can be arranged to provide people with stylish shopping bags to help customers gain strong environmental protection awareness.Besides,governments and media should take due responsibilities to spread knowledge about the harm of using plastic bags and plastic alternatives so that the public will be properly educated to have better sense of environmental protection.

Based on what we have discussed,we can safely draw the conclusion that each of us should and can take certain measures to protect our environment.
